New Pacemaker!

Beach waves

God has blessed me this week by me mastering both of my benchmarks.

So thankful my cousin Candy is safe after losing everything in a house fire and her cat was found alive 5 days later.

Feeling blessed

Blessed with a talented surgeon
and a cancer-free screening.

Family

After last weekend (and the weekend prior), we now have 18 students going to UIL Texas State Solo & Ensemble contest in May, our most ever at McAllen Memorial High School orchestra.

As my class, the Sinfonietta Orchestra, is not doing UIL this cycle (not big enough to have a full orchestra), we will be performing for the community.

A retirement community and Veteran's home are scheduled to have us, and I am working on our final venue in children's hospital.

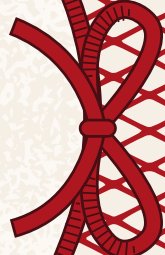

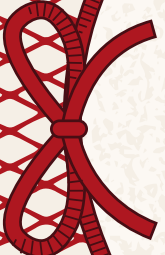

Seeing old friends.

The blessing of new friends and
phone calls will long distance
friends.

Good doctors report

God blessed me with a good doctor and loyal friends.
Thankful for those who stop gossip.

Had a wonderful dinner date
with my husband and son.
Facetimed with my other on for about 40 minutes.

Thanks for continued healing.

Blessed to see God working in my life through Jesus

I am thankful for an unexpected bonus from work I was not planning on.

Blessed to have a very understanding cancer doctor for my son, and that my son will not have to travel for treatment.
